The diagram illustrates a class hierarchy. At the top level, there are two classes: 'Application' on the left and 'System.Windows.Application' on the right. Below these, centered, is the class 'Market_viewer2._0.App'. A horizontal line with arrows at both ends connects the two top-level classes. A vertical line descends from the center of this horizontal line to the top of the 'Market_viewer2._0.App' box, indicating that it inherits from the common base of the two top-level classes.
